BEYOND BALANCE: AN INTERDISCIPLINARY APPROACH TO FALL PREVENTION IN ASSISTED LIVING

Falls in assisted living are rarely caused by a single factor and preventing them requires more than addressing balance alone. In this presentation, we will explore how physical, cognitive, environmental, and daily-routine factors combine to influence fall risk among older adults. Drawing from deeply integrated partnerships with senior living communities across Colorado's Front Range, the presenters will share discipline-specific insights and practical strategies for identifying risk, supporting safer mobility, and addressing commonly overlooked contributors. Attendees will also learn how meaningful collaboration between therapy providers and senior living teams can support earlier intervention, strengthen interdisciplinary communication, and create a more proactive and coordinated approach to fall prevention. Participants will leave with actionable strategies they can apply within their own communities.

Jordon Allard, MOT, OTR/L; Ben Black, PT, DPT; and Erin McGrady, M.S., CCC-SLP, of ASPIRE Therapy & Wellness
